JASON DEES is the founding pastor of Christ Covenant Church in Atlanta, Georgia, a city-center congregation launched in 2017 that now welcomes more than 2K worshipers each Sunday. Before planting Christ Covenant, he led revitalization efforts at Valleydale Church in Hoover, Alabama, and First Baptist Church in Covington, Georgia, guiding both congregations from seasons of division, debt, and decline to renewed health and growth. His writing has appeared in outlets such as Christianity Today, The Gospel Coalition, 9Marks, For the Church, CBMW, and The Christian Index, and his ministry has been featured in the New York Times, Baptist Press, and other news outlets. Jason and his wife, Paige, have been married nearly fifteen years and are the parents of three children: Emery Anna, John Kellis, and Raynor.

The Disciple-Making Church

Building a Culture of Discipleship in the Local Church

BY JASON DEES

How do you build a church where discipleship is more than a program, more than a class, and more than the responsibility of a few staff members? How do you cultivate a culture where every believer is growing as a disciple of Jesus and helping others do the same?

The Bible teaches that spiritual transformation is ultimately God's work. As we behold the glory of the Lord, we are "being transformed into the same image from one degree of glory to another" (2 Corinthians 3:18). Yet God ordinarily accomplishes this work through the means He has appointed: settings where His people regularly encounter His Word, depend on His Spirit, worship together, serve one another, and live on mission.

In The Disciple-Making Church, Jason Dees introduces nine biblical rhythms through which God ordinarily forms His people into mature disciples of Jesus. These rhythms provide a simple, comprehensive framework for personal spiritual growth while giving church leaders a practical strategy for building a disciple-making culture.

The principles in this book have shaped one of America's fastest-growing churches and have helped pastors and ministry leaders cultivate healthier, more intentional cultures of disciple making. Whether you lead a church plant, a historic congregation, or a growing ministry, The Disciple-Making Church will equip you to build a church where spiritual growth is expected, disciples make disciples, and the mission of Jesus becomes the shared calling of every believer.

Will your church be next?

audience

- Pastors and church planters wrestling with how to move discipleship out of a program or a class and into the actual culture of their church
- Church leaders and lay leaders alike who are responsible for designing a congregation's spiritual-formation strategy and need a shared, repeatable framework rather than a patchwork of classes and programs that do not reinforce each other
- Leaders of plateaued, declining, or revitalizing churches looking for a proven path to renewed health, especially those who have watched discipleship stay a talking point without ever becoming a functioning system

marketing highlights

- Lifeway Research found that only 52% of church leaders are satisfied with discipleship and spiritual formation in their churches and have an intentional plan for discipling their congregations; this book introduces nine biblical rhythms that help form disciples, making this practical framework applicable for all types of churches
- Jason Dees planted Christ Covenant Church in Atlanta in 2017 and has successfully used this disciple-making framework to help Christ Covenant grow to more than 2K weekly worshipers
- B&H will partner with Jason to promote this book through his personal connections from his platform as an influential Southern Baptist pastor and through strategic marketing targeted to the audience including paid print and digital advertising, podcast placements, and a national publicity campaign

A Better Sex Talk

Helping Christian Parents Develop Biblical, Grace-filled, and Ongoing Conversations with Their Kids About Sexual Health and Wholeness

BY LORI KUYKENDALL; FOREWORD BY KATHY KOCH PHD

How did you learn about sex? Did your parents have healthy, biblical, grace-filled, clear, and ongoing conversations with you about God's good design for sexual health and wholeness? For many, the answer is "no." If there was a conversation about your changing body or sex, it was likely a one-time, awkward moment. Or maybe the only information you got was from your friends, a science class, magazines, or online. Fast forward a generation, and the lies, confusion, and pressure from the Sexual Revolution have only worsened. Today's young people need clearer guidance and stronger support than their parents did, and yet many modern parents are ill-equipped to provide it. In A Better Sex Talk, Lori Kuykendall (mother of four) brings decades of experience in public health and sex education to help you:

- Become the primary sex educator of your child
- Prioritize staying connected and close with your child while also effectively communicating your values and expectations
- Trade the one-time-only "big sex talk" approach for having ongoing, healthy, biblical conversations that balance truth and grace
- Reflect and untangle your own adolescent experience (including purity culture)
- Prepare your kids to understand their bodies, draw healthy body boundaries, and learn God's good plan for sex and identity

If you've been waiting for an ongoing plan to sexually educate your kids, helping them walk with confidence in God's beautiful design for sex, the body, and sexual health and wholeness, the time is now. As Lori often says: "You can do this!" and "You MUST do this!"

audience

- Christian parents of kids ages 3–9 who want to sexually educate their kids using science-backed Scripture and ongoing conversations so that they understand their bodies, draw healthy body boundaries, and learn about God's good design for their future sexuality
- Christian parents of kids ages 10–16 who know that their child is navigating pressure to engage in sexuality outside of God's design and want an ongoing plan for sexually educating their child with confidence in God's good plan
- Ministry leaders, homeschool communities, and counselors looking for a trustworthy resource to recommend to parents

marketing highlights

- With a degree in public health and as president of Beacon Health Education Resources, Lori Kuykendall is deeply trusted as a sex educator in medical and public health circles, as well as key evangelical spaces
- Apart from a one-time-only awkward conversation, most parents today did not have a model for talking about sex, bodily changes, and sexual health growing up; A Better Sex Talk provides a model for today's parents who desire ongoing, age-appropriate, biblical, and healthy conversations with their kids on these issues
- This book includes dedicated appendices for partnering with schools and churches, which broadens its reach as a resource and community tool

JEFF IORG was elected the eighth president and CEO of the SBC Executive Committee in 2024. He previously served for 20 years as the president of Gateway Seminary and oversaw its move to Southern California. He has authored eight books and regularly writes on character development, biblical leadership, and effective ministry.

Endurance

Leading for the Long Haul

BY JEFF IORG

Every leader begins with enthusiasm, but only those formed by character can go the distance. In Endurance, Jeff Iorg turns to the New Testament and the history of the early church to show why perseverance is not optional for ministry leadership.

This book is both biblical and practical, tracing how endurance is shaped in a leader's life and why it matters for long-term faithfulness. Along the way, Iorg offers a positive vision of ministry rooted not in talent or momentum, but in spiritual maturity, steadiness, and character that can bear weight over time.

Written for younger leaders who want to build a lifetime of ministry, Endurance is a call to lead with durability, integrity, and hope. If the goal is to serve Christ for the long haul, endurance is not just helpful. It is essential.

audience

- Ministry leaders in their first ten years of service and those concerned about enduring for the long haul or navigating burnout, doubt, or disillusionment in ministry
- People who know Jeff Iorg as the eighth president and CEO of the SBC Executive Committee or from his 20 years as president of Gateway Seminary
- Previous readers of Jeff Iorg's books including Leading Major Change in Your Ministry, Seasons of a Leader's Life, The Painful Side of Leadership, The Character of Leadership, and Is God Calling Me?, which has sold more than 20K copies

marketing highlights

- According to Barna research, 40 percent of pastors show a high risk of burnout (a 400 percent increase since 2015); this book gives ministry leaders tools to prevent ministry fatigue
- The first decade of ministry is where burnout, doubt, and disillusionment claim the most casualties; Endurance speaks directly into those hardest early years with targeted, theologically grounded insight for leaders who are questioning whether they have what it takes to finish well
- As the president and CEO of the SBC Executive Committee and past president of Gateway Seminary, Jeff's platform reaches across a fellowship of nearly 47K Southern Baptist churches, giving him a built-in network of ministry leaders who trust his voice

Point Them to Jesus

A Gospel Guide to Kids and Student Ministry

BY AARON WILSON

What if the goal of every lesson, every conversation, every game, and every moment in ministry was to point the next generation to Jesus?

In a world filled with competing voices, moral lessons, expressive individualism, and self-improvement, many kids and students grow up with a fragmented understanding of the Bible. They learn stories, all while missing the story and the savior that the whole Bible points to. Point Them to Jesus casts a compelling vision for why every passage of the Bible matters and ultimately points us to Christ.

Rather than treating the Bible as a collection of disconnected lessons, this book equips ministry leaders to:

- See the unified story of Scripture from Genesis to Revelation
- Communicate that story to kids and students
- Engage kids and students with fun activities that help them remember gospel centrality
- Use practical tools and frameworks to teach the Bible through a gospel lens

Editor for The Gospel Project, Aaron Wilson, writes this book for anyone serving the next generation, from kids ministry leaders and volunteers to church staff and ministry teams. Point Them to Jesus isn't just another ministry strategy. It's a gospel recentering.

audience

- Kids and student ministry leaders who champion gospel centrality in their ministries but desire to try a different approach; next gen leaders who are looking to infuse gospel centrality into their ministries and deepen their kids' and students' theology of how the Bible tells one big story
- Users of Lifeway's The Gospel Project curriculum
- Lay leaders, Sunday school teachers, and volunteers who work with children and students and who can be introduced to The Gospel Project's next gen ministry network and broader resources through this book, expanding the reach beyond paid ministry staff into the wider church volunteer community

marketing highlights

- The Gospel Project is currently used by more than 13K churches which gives this book a built-in audience of ministry leaders already invested in gospel-centered next gen work
- Lifeway Research found two-thirds of young adults who attended a Protestant church regularly in high school dropped out for at least one year; Point Them to Jesus equips leaders to move the gospel from familiar to formative, giving the next generation a faith that holds
- Point Them to Jesus addresses one of the most pressing tensions in children's and youth ministry: leaders who have championed gospel centrality but wonder whether they are equipped to carry it out faithfully amid the pressures of ministry; this book gives them both the theological grounding and a practical, reproducible framework to press forward with renewed conviction

Wholehearted Worship

How the Spiritual Disciplines Shape Your Life for the Glory of God

BY EUNICE CHUNG AND ADAM MCCLENDON

"I know I should practice the spiritual disciplines, but I don't." Most Christians have felt this way when it comes to this topic. Why do we all feel this way?

In this book, Adam McClendon and Eunice Chung discuss both the purpose and practicality of the spiritual disciplines, compelling God's people to recognize worship as the foundation for the spiritual disciplines. The disciplines are not measures to determine how mature we are; they are gifts God gives to invite us into deeper worship of him. When we know the "why," the "how" becomes much easier. Within this framework, McClendon and Chung provide clear discussions of four main spiritual disciplines and give ample, practical ways to incorporate each discipline in our pursuit of God.

This book will help you to:

- Center the Christian life on worship
- Respond to God's greatness through the incorporation of the spiritual disciplines in daily Christian life
- Apply the spiritual disciplines with clear and practical ways in both personal and corporate contexts

As we rediscover the centrality of worship in the Christian life, so too will our desire to practice the spiritual disciplines with the right approach and attitude.

audience

- Everyday churchgoers and small group participants seeking a deeper understanding of spiritual disciplines and are looking for a practical, accessible resource to help them grow
- Students at Christian colleges and institutes who are taking spiritual formation courses or are interested in deepening their personal walk with God
- Pastors and ministry leaders looking for theologically grounded resources for individuals and groups in their church

marketing highlights

- Studies from Lifeway Research and Ligonier confirm that most Christians are not consistently practicing spiritual disciplines; this book offers a practical framework for developing spiritual disciplines
- Adam McClendon and Eunice Chung both work for Liberty University, one of the largest Christian universities in the world (more than 90K enrolled); Eunice is also a teacher for Lifeway Women Academy
- The book includes discussion questions after each chapter for group discussion and an assessment to be taken before and after reading (and revisited over time) to assess progress in implementing each of the disciplines

Own the Mission

A Call for Every Christian to Live the Great Commission

BY GREG WILTON

Too many believers think of missions as something for the spiritually elite, the professionally trained, or the unusually zealous. In Own the Mission, Greg Wilton calls the church back to a simple and urgent truth: the mission of making disciples of all nations belongs to every follower of Jesus.

With clarity, warmth, and practical conviction, this book shows that Christian mission is not a side project or an optional add-on, but the essence of what it means to walk with Christ. Whether God calls you across the street or across the world, Own the Mission equips you to live with purpose, leverage your life for the glory of God, and join in His work of reaching the nations.

Rooted in the Great Commission and shaped for mature believers who want to grow in obedience, this book is an invitation to stop treating mission as someone else's calling. It is time to own it.

audience

- Everyday believers called to the Great Commission but who lack a practical framework for living on mission in daily life
- Students and young adults at New Orleans Baptist Theological Seminary, Leavell College, FUGE Camps, and MissionLab who are in the early stages of discerning their calling and need a resource that meets them where they are
- Pastors, church leaders, and ministry influencers across the International Mission Board, North American Mission Board, and Lausanne Movement networks seeking tools to mobilize their people toward the Great Commission

marketing highlights

- Greg Wilton brings rare cross-world credibility to the topic of mission with leadership at NOBTS, experience as an IMB missionary and NAMB leader, and influence as an NFL chaplain giving Own the Mission reach into both ministry and mainstream sports culture
- Many Christians know they are called to share the gospel, but don't feel capable; Own the Mission meets that gap with a clear, Scripture-rooted framework for everyday life, not just overseas missions; this practical playbook makes it equally useful as a personal read, a church resource, and a camp or college curriculum
- B&H will partner with Greg to promote Own the Mission through his existing speaking platforms at FUGE Camps, MissionLab, other SBC-affiliated events, targeted outreach to IMB and NAMB networks, and marketing through his endorser relationships across ministry and professional sports audiences

Are you facing loss, longing, or lack? Joy Comes in the Mourning offers a gentle companion for your journey through grief, loss, disappointment, and unanswered questions. Liturgies for the Little Years

A Collection of Poetic Prayers for Mothers

BY GRACE THWEATT

Motherhood in the little years is filled with countless mundane moments: rocking a baby back to sleep before dawn, wiping sticky hands, folding tiny clothes, soothing big emotions, and tending to the needs of others long before your own. These days can feel repetitive, exhausting, and at times invisible.

Liturgies for the Little Years is a collection of poetic prayers written to accompany mothers through this sacred season of raising young children. Created for the ordinary moments that shape family life, these liturgies help transform your everyday routines into opportunities for reflection, gratitude, worship, and renewed perspective.

On the days when you're running short on time and words, the days you feel the little years are the lost years, or the days you simply want to mark the moment with your child but aren't sure how, these pages provide you with just the right Scripture-soaked prayers to lift up to God. You'll find that each page gives voice to both the beautiful and the difficult realities of motherhood—for bedtime routines and sleepless nights, for playful afternoons and overwhelming days, for celebrations, holidays, disappointments, worries, and wonder.

For any mother longing to encounter God amid daily life, open this book, pause for a moment, and pray in faith that even the smallest acts of love carry eternal significance.

- Moms of young children who are hungry for a reminder that the unseen, ordinary work of mothering matters to God and who need words to pray when they can't find their own
- Parents who are drawn to thoughtful reflection and liturgical writing and who want a resource that meets them in the overwhelming rhythms of life with little ones

The Country of the King

A Promise of Heaven and Home

BY WHITNEY NEWBY; ILLUSTRATED BY CHIARA FEDELE

How do you explain the hope of heaven to a child?

When a young boy loses his grandmother, his grief comes with questions. Where did she go? How could anywhere be better than here? The boy's grandfather responds by describing the country of the King—an everlasting place where Jesus, the good King of the universe, lives forever with everyone who loves Him. It's a place where goodbyes give way to a reunion that never ends.

The Bible doesn't give us a full picture of heaven, but it does give us glimpses. So this gorgeously illustrated picture book is an imagining, inviting kids to consider that whatever God has prepared for us will be far better and more beautiful than anything we could ever dream.

The Country of the King will give your family:

- Theologically rich language for talking about heaven with young children
- An imaginative framework for grief that points toward lasting hope
- A story that meets children in their sadness
- A trustworthy resource to return to when kids are curious about eternity

Poems I Pray

Talking to God in Every Season

BY KATE RIETEMA; ILLUSTRATED BY COLETTE BARKER

In a world that encourages children to rush through life, Poems I Pray invites children to see that there is joy in slowing down, noticing, and connecting with God and His creation.

In this collection of 35 free verse poems, a young girl slows down to notice. She sees the color of a winter sky, the muck of mud between her toes, and the way a single purple bloom can feel like a promise of new life to come. In every unhurried moment, she turns her wanderings to prayers, telling God what she sees, what she longs for, and thanking Him for all He has made in nature and beyond. Each poetic prayer is a celebration of nature and wonder and an example of 1 Thessalonians 5:17's urge to "pray without ceasing."

Poems I Pray invites your child to:

- See the beauty in looking up at God's creation instead of down at a screen
- Experience prayer as a joyful conversation rather than a task to complete
- Embrace God's presence in every ordinary and extraordinary moment
- See the beauty in nature throughout every season
- Celebrate childlike faith

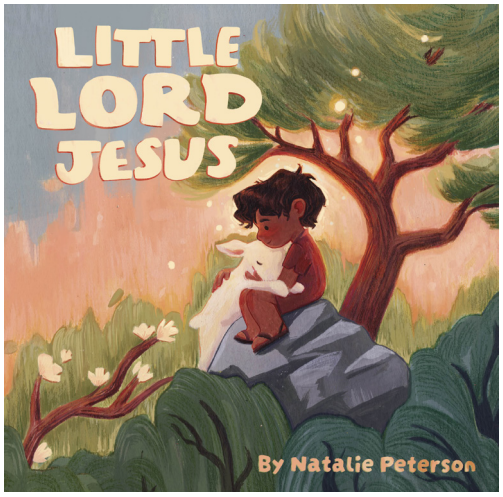
For the family that longs to trade hurry for slowness, Poems I Pray is a gift for every season. It's perfect for the school bookshelf, Sunday school class, or homeschool classroom and would make a beautiful addition to any home library. It can be read all at once or savored, one poem at a time, throughout seasons of the year, reminding young readers that the God who made everything is always listening.

audience

- Families of children ages 4–8 looking for a beautifully crafted, seasonally structured picture book that models conversational prayer and makes a meaningful gift year-round
- Schools, children's ministry leaders, and poetry lovers who value the classics and are looking for fresh options to read with children and recommend to families
- Readers of Kate Rietema's previous B&H Kids titles When God Makes Scribbles Beautiful and All the Babies and her book Cheetahs Return to India who are already familiar with her voice

marketing highlights

- Poems I Pray moves through every season with sweet, simple poems giving families, educators, church leaders, and homeschool communities an accessible resource to read and pray together year round
- Poetry and liturgical readings are trending in children's books; a 2023 international study on poetry and reading skills highlighted that poetry contributes to vocabulary enhancement, comprehension, critical thinking, and reading fluency
- B&H will strategically promote this title through targeted marketing, a publicity campaign, paid social media ads, emails, paid advertising, and more



Little Lord Jesus

WRITTEN AND ILLUSTRATED BY NATALIE PETERSON

Jesus was once little, just like you!

Scripture tells us that Jesus was fully God and fully human. He was born as a baby, raised in a family, and grew into a man who changed everything. But what about the years in between? Author and illustrator Natalie Peterson invites young children to imagine Jesus as a toddler, pairing lyrical text with charming illustrations. Children will picture what it may have been like for Jesus to run like a toddler, belly laugh with His family, and rest in the warm embrace of His mother.

Little Lord Jesus will help your child:

- Imagine Jesus in a way that feels both familiar and wondrous
- Build a theologically sound understanding of Jesus's humanity
- Engage imagination anchored in biblical truth
- Experience the delight of a big God who chose to become small, just like them

Perfect for a baby shower, birthday or Christmas gift, or Easter basket addition, Little Lord Jesus is a board book families will return to again and again, giving children beautiful, foundational truth from the very beginning.

CROWNED BY GOD

When I observe your heavens, the work of your fingers, the moon and the stars, which you set in place, what is a human being that you remember him, a son of man that you look after him? You made him little less than God and crowned him with glory and honor. You made him ruler over the works of your hands; you put everything under his feet.

PSALM 8:3–6

Have you ever looked up at the night sky on a clear night and seen all the stars? There are so many! The sky seems to go on forever. It's huge! If you've done that, you might have felt really small—like a tiny dot on the giant planet Earth. I know I have. King David felt that way, too, and he wrote about it in Psalm 8.

He asks God, "Who am I that God would think of me? Why do you care so much?" He answers his own question, saying, "You made us a little less than God, and crowned us with glory and honor. You made us rulers over everything you created; you put it all under us." Wow! We may feel tiny, but we are who God says we are. We are crowned with glory and honor. He wants us to serve Him in His world.

When you play sports, it's easy to only feel good when you play well and win. We are all tempted in this way. But that's when we need to remember what God says about us. King David wrote that God has "crowned" us with "glory and honor." That's where our real value comes from—not from how well we play, but from doing our best, because that glorifies God.

Think about it: that crown of glory isn't a trophy you put on a shelf. It's the value God gives you right now. So, when you're doing your best, running, sweating, tackling, diving, or swinging in a game, you're "ruling over" or honoring what God has made you to do. When you keep trying your hardest, it brings glory to God. It's like holding up a mirror that shows His glory back to Him.

This Psalm also points us to Jesus—the perfect Man. He wore a crown of thorns and died on the cross for us. He perfectly obeyed God for you and me. So no matter if you win or lose a game, we have forever victory through faith in Him!

PRAYER

Father, Creator, You made everything, and You still think about me—that's amazing! Thank You for giving me worth and crowning me with glory and honor. Help me try my best in sports and in life so I can bring You glory. You alone are truly worthy. Amen.

AS YOU COMPETE

Write down a truth you learned about God.

What is one way you can live out this truth in your sport today.

CREATED BY GOD

Then God said, "Let us make man in our image, according to our likeness. . . . So God created man in his own image; he created him in the image of God; he created them male and female.

GENESIS 1:26-29

Everyone who competes in athletics, no matter the level, does so because of God-given gifts and abilities. Every time you lace up your cleats, grip your bat, grab your racket, or step onto the field or court, pause and remember the truth that pulses through every beat of your heart: you were created by God, in His very image (to reflect Him uniquely), for the high calling of stewardship over His creation—and that includes the blessing of competition.

Genesis 1:26-27 reads, "Then God said, 'Let us make man in our image, after our likeness.' . . . So God created man in his own image, in the image of God he created him; male and female he created them." What a divine blueprint! You are not an accident of evolution or a product of chance. No, you are fearfully and wonderfully made (Psalm 139:14), stamped with the Creator's own likeness—His creativity, His strength, and His relational depth.

Think about what this means for you as an athlete. That drive to discipline yourself, push your limits, to strategize with your teammates, to honor the rules of the game while giving your all—it's not just instinct; it's a reflection of God's image at work in God's world. He didn't create you to sit idle on the sidelines of life. He made you for active engagement with the world He loves. Sports, in their purest form, are a window into that sacred calling.

But let's be clear: this image-bearing isn't about your personal glory or racking up stats for self-glory. Sin has marred that image in all of us, twisting competition into idolatry far too often. Yet, in Christ—the perfect image of God (Colossians 1:15)—we are being renewed day by day (Colossians 3:10). As you train and play, let it be an act of worship to your Creator, Sustainer, and Redeemer God.

PRAYER

Father God, Creator of all things. You say in your Word that You have given us dominion to steward your creation. What a fantastic privilege and responsibility! Thank You for the opportunity to compete and for the abilities You have given me. Help me to discipline my body "as a living sacrifice" to bring honor and glory to Your name. I pray these things in Jesus' name, Amen.

AS YOU COMPETE

What does it mean that God made you in His image — and how does that change what your athletic ability is actually for?

Name one specific way you can compete or train today that reflects the image of God rather than seeking your own glory.

Singing Songs of Hope
Let us hold on to the confession of our hope without wavering, since he who promised is faithful.—Hebrews 10:23
Emma was excited when her family left early in the morning to visit family in another state. She loved road trips! But as they drove along, it started to become foggy. At first, she enjoyed the swirling wisps of fog. They floated by and seemed to hang in the treetops. But the fog got thicker and thicker. Dad began to drive a little slower. She could tell he was having to concentrate on the road. "Are we okay?" Emma asked quietly.
"Don't worry. God is with us in the fog." Mom said, as she smiled back at Emma. "This morning, the Bible verse I read said to 'hold on' and not waver. That means we don't have to hesitate; we can hope and trust because God is faithful. The verse reminds me of a song Grandma taught me."
Mom began to sing a song Emma remembered her grandma singing. The words were about God's faithful love and how God keeps His promises. Emma began to sing along, and so did her sister. Even Dad began to relax. Emma was glad her grandma had taught her mom about God's faithfulness. Now her mom was teaching her! Feeling full of hope, Emma smiled and sang until the fog lifted.
Pray
We can talk and sing to God. Sing a prayer to Him, thanking Him for His faithfulness.
High Flying Fact
Fog is a type of cloud near or touching the ground. You'll see fog when the ground is cool enough to make the cloud's water vapor turn into liquid water or tiny ice crystals. Walking through fog is like touching a cloud!
S.O.A.R. with Scripture
S - Start with Scripture. Read Psalm 89:1.
O - Observe. What is something you noticed in this verse?
A - Apply. Ask yourself, How does this verse affect how I think or live?
R - Remember. Write all of the verse (or the first half of the verse) on a piece of paper. Make up a tune for the part of the verse you want to learn, and then sing the verse.
Take Flight
In the space below, use the side of a pencil lead to color an area to look like a fog cloud. Then use an eraser to write the word hope in the fog. In the rest of the space, write about why God gives you hope.

Fruit of the Spirit

Growing in the Likeness of God

TARA DEW

Jesus taught in Luke 6:44 that a tree is known by its fruit. As Christians, we should be known by the godly character we display. Paul described this kind of character in Galatians as the fruit of the Spirit—love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. But these qualities are not something we can muster up or produce on our own. Christlikeness is not dependent on us working harder. Instead, the Holy Spirit cultivates these attributes in us as we abide in Jesus.

In this 10-session study, Tara Dew will walk you through Scripture, examining what each aspect of this spiritual fruit looks like in the life of a believer. You'll learn that the fruit you bear will be in proportion to the depth of your relationship with Jesus, and that the fruit of the Spirit that's produced in you is for God's glory and purpose, not your own. You'll see how your relationships with others can flourish as the fruit of the Spirit helps you cultivate more loving, patient, and selfless connections. As you answer the call to abundant living through abiding in Jesus, the Spirit will yield in you a harvest of Christlike character that will have eternal significance for you and the kingdom of God.

- 10 video teaching sessions, 21-30 minutes each
- 9 weeks of personal study to be completed between the 10 group sessions

Wholehearted

A Study on James
OGHOSA IYAMU

The book of James is a manual for wholehearted living. At its center is James's vision of mature faith, a life made complete and steady through perseverance, even through life's toughest trials and the shifting pressures of culture. Fittingly, the letter both opens and closes with the call to patient, wholehearted living, reminding believers that spiritual maturity is formed over time, not in a moment.

In this 8-session, verse-by-verse Bible study, author and teacher Oghosa Iyamu guides you through the themes, warnings, and encouragements of James's letter. Through your study, you'll learn how each part of this letter is intentionally connected together to call you to wholehearted devotion to Jesus. You'll be formed by God's wisdom in your speech, learning to use words that restore, heal, and reflect His character in a divided world, and discover how to live as both a hearer and doer of God's Word in the everyday joys and trials of life.

JENNIFER ROTHSCHILD has shared her inspiring messages to audiences across the country and through media outlets including Dr. Phil, Good Morning America, The Today Show, and the Billy Graham Television Special. She is the author of Take Courage, Psalm 23, Hosea, Me, Myself, and Lies, and more. Jennifer is a C. S. Lewis junkie, an obsessive audiobook listener, a dark chocolate lover, and she drinks way too much strong coffee. She's been blind since age fifteen and says the greatest lesson she's learned in the dark is that it doesn't have to be well with your circumstances to be well with your soul. Jennifer is a boy mom who lives in Missouri with her husband, whom she affectionately calls her very own Dr. Phil, and their little diva dog, Lucy!

Jesus

Walking with Him Through the Library of Scripture
JENNIFER ROTHSCHILD

"Who do you say that I am?" Jesus asked this piercing question of His disciples. Simon Peter's inspired response captured the answer with clarity and conviction: "You are the Messiah, the Son of the living God" (Matt. 16:16). How would you answer the same question today? In a world filled with spiritual confusion, seeing Jesus clearly is essential.

In this 7-session Bible study, Jennifer Rothschild guides you through the library of Scripture to help you gain a full and true picture of the Savior. Using John 1 as a guide, you will explore six defining characteristics of Jesus found throughout the Bible. As you journey through both the Old and New Testaments, you will see how He is revealed as Logos, Light, Love, Lion, Lamb, and Lord. If you've walked with Jesus for many decades or just a few days, this study will open your eyes and heart to see Him more clearly and love Him more deeply. Ultimately, you will be challenged to answer Jesus's question for yourself: "Who do you say that I am?" Your answer to this question impacts your purpose, your witness, and your eternity.

- Comprehensive study on the character of Jesus
- 7 teaching videos from Jennifer Rothschild, approximately 30 minutes each, available via redemption code printed in the Bible study book
- 7 group sessions and 6 weeks of personal Bible study benefits

- Ground your faith in a clear understanding of who Jesus is as revealed in the whole of Scripture.
- Experience the sacrificial, personal, and enduring nature of Jesus's love for you.

The Mind of Christ

(Revised, 2027 Edition)

T.W. HUNT, MELANA HUNT MONROE, AND CLAUDE KING

The Mind of Christ has been a widely used and beneficial Bible study resource since its original release more than three decades ago and its revision in 2008. Yet today's cultural landscape of distraction, polarization, anxiety, and shallow spirituality presents a profound new need for this timeless message. Many believers struggle to cultivate a Christ-centered mindset that shapes their everyday responses and relationships. The Mind of Christ refresh focuses on the source of spiritual struggle—the believer's thought life, perspective, and identity in Christ. It connects doctrine with daily discipleship, spiritual disciplines, and emotional health. It explores the theological core of sanctification, equipping believers with the mind of Christ to engage culture instead of being shaped by it. As such, this refresh will resonate with today's believers' hunger for authenticity, depth, and transformation that lasts.

Know Your Calling

College, Career, and What Comes Next

AUSTIN GENTRY

"What should I do with my life?" is the most pressing question facing recent high school graduates and college students. This study takes the confusion of the future and offers a practical, biblical pathway for navigating life-changing decisions and discovering their purpose in God's kingdom.

about the translation

The CSB FCA Study Bible features the highly readable, highly reliable text of the Christian Standard Bible® (CSB).

CSB FCA Study Bible, Easy-to-Read Optimal Type

Do you want to be a disciple who makes disciples? Jesus gave the church a clear game plan to make disciples when He said, "Go, therefore, and make disciples of all nations . . ." (Matthew 28:19a). But, practically, how do we do that? What steps do we need to take to make disciples?

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes created a discipleship strategy called E3 to help coaches and athletes be effective disciple makers. This strategy ENGAGES coaches and athletes with the Good News, EQUIPS them with God's Word, and EMPOWERS them to live out the Great Commission.

The CSB FCA Study Bible utilizes FCA's discipleship strategy with intentionally crafted tools and resources to walk through the Engage, Equip, and Empower principles. Beginning with New Testament Greek Companion Reader

BY DANIEL STEVENS

In Beginning with New Testament Greek Companion Reader, Daniel Stevens provides first-year Greek students with carefully curated reading material drawn from the New Testament and Septuagint, keyed lesson-by-lesson to Benjamin L. Merkle and Robert L. Plummer's widely used introductory grammar.

Learning to read Greek requires both grammar memorization and practice with real biblical texts. Stevens bridges the gap between basic grammatical instruction and fluent exegesis by immersing students in actual Greek prose at the very moment they are acquiring each new grammatical concept.

The reader is organized into 23 reading units, each corresponding to a chapter of Beginning with New Testament Greek. Each unit offers:

- Carefully selected New Testament and Septuagint prose passages
- Graduated complexity calibrated to the grammar concepts introduced in each lesson
- Exposure to multiple prose genres across both the New Testament and the Septuagint

Beginning with New Testament Greek Companion Reader is designed for use alongside Merkle and Plummer's textbook in first-year Greek courses. Independent students of Greek will also benefit from this tool as they seek to deepen their reading of Scripture beyond the classroom. Stevens's reader gives students the one thing no grammar alone can provide: a sustained, structured encounter with the Greek text of Scripture.

Doctrine as Discipleship

Theological Foundations for Spiritual Formation

BY R. LUCAS STAMPS

Doctrine as Discipleship: Theological Foundations for Spiritual Formation by R. Lucas Stamps challenges the common divide between theology and the Christian life. Rather than viewing doctrine as abstract ideas reserved for classrooms, Stamps shows how the great truths of the Christian faith are meant to shape the believer's lives, habits, and daily obedience.

Drawing deeply from Scripture and the historic Christian tradition, this book presents doctrine as a pathway to spiritual formation. Each theological conviction—from the nature of God to the work of Christ and the life of the Spirit—forms the heart and guides faithful discipleship.

Clear, thoughtful, and pastorally grounded, Doctrine as Discipleship invites readers to see theology not merely as knowledge to master, but as truth that forms believers into the likeness of Christ.

audience

- Professors and students in introduction to theology and discipleship courses at Baptist colleges

Eight Ideas That Wrecked the World

How Bad Philosophy Shapes a Broken Culture

BY DOUGLAS GROOTHUIS

The most dangerous ideas are the ones we no longer question. Many of the assumptions shaping our world today began as the bold claims of individual philosophers.

In Eight Ideas That Wrecked the World: How Bad Philosophy Shapes a Broken Culture, Douglas Groothuis examines eight influential philosophical errors and offers insight and correction to the harmful thinking that has taken root in society today.

Tracing consequential missteps through the ideas of some of history's most influential thinkers, Groothuis weaves in autobiographical accounts that bring each abstract philosophical idea to life. Eight Ideas That Wrecked the World is accessible to newcomers yet substantive enough that even seasoned philosophers can find critiques worth pondering. As one of the leading voices in Christian philosophy and apologetics, Groothuis equips readers to recognize flawed thinking and respond with wisdom.

Every Last Breath

Biblical Worship for All of Life

BY DAVID J. CALVERT AND JOSHUA A. WAGGENER

Worship is like breathing—every inhale is a revelation of God; each exhale is our response.

In Every Last Breath: Biblical Worship for All of Life, David Calvert and Joshua Waggener offer an accessible, Christ-centered introduction to a biblical theology of worship that equips believers to honor God with every breath they take.

Following the guiding metaphor of breathing, Calvert and Waggener trace the biblical pattern of revelation and response, showing how the inspiration and exhalation of worship shape both everyday living and the gathered church. With Jesus as our true Worship Leader (Heb. 2:12) and all worship enacted in his name (Eph. 5:20), the authors demonstrate how Christ, who "holds all things together" (Col. 1:17), is connected to every area of worship and life.

Written by two theologians who are also practitioners of worship, Every Last Breath offers a concise yet substantive framework for engaging worship Christologically, empowering readers to live every last breath for the glory of God.

audience

- Worship leaders and worship team members seeking a biblical theology of worship that extends beyond Sunday services
- Undergrad and seminary students seeking an accessible introduction to biblical worship

marketing highlights

- The authors use the metaphor of breath as a fresh framework to understand the lifelong rhythm of worship.

Growing Whole

A Theology for Youth and Family Ministry

BY SEAN MCGEVER

Keeping young people engaged is the question that drives most ministry. Helping them grow whole—rooted in Christ, formed in truth, shaped for a lifetime of faith—is the one that matters.

Growing Whole: A Theology for Youth and Family Ministry by Sean McGever equips ministry leaders, youth workers, and parents to minister effectively to younger generations through a thoughtful integration of theology, history, and practical insights.

Structured around four themes—Christian, Youth, Family, and Ministry—the book moves from foundation to application. It anchors all ministry in the person and work of Jesus Christ, considers the unique nature of young people as both complete image bearers and still-developing individuals, recovers the biblical roles of parents and children within the family, and traces how Christians have approached this work across the centuries. The result is a resource rich in both theological depth and practical wisdom—one that empowers readers to not only address the "how" of ministry, but more importantly, the "why."

Leading an Intergenerational Church

Cultivating Discipleship Through Community, Collaboration, and Care

BY JODY DEAN AND KEN BRADDY

Scripture presents a vision of the church as a unified body—one in which the wisdom of age and the energy of youth are not in competition but in communion. Older generations pass down faith; younger generations bring new zeal to it.

In Leading an Intergenerational Church: Cultivating Discipleship Through Community, Collaboration, and Care, Jody Dean and Ken Braddy bring together decades of combined experience in Christian education, groups ministry, and church leadership to help ministry leaders cultivate the practice of learning across generational lines. Drawing on both Old and New Testament foundations, the authors walk readers through the key arenas of church life where intergenerational relationships are built and sustained: worship, mentoring, leadership, conflict resolution, Bible study, missional ministry, milestone celebrations, and technology.

Leading an Intergenerational Church will be an essential resource for pastors, ministry staff, and lay leaders who want to move their congregations from generational coexistence to genuine, Christ-centered community.

marketing highlights

Pastoring in a Pagan World

Ancient Wisdom for Modern Ministry

BY LELAND BROWN AND STEPHEN O. PRESLEY

Pastoral ministry is in crisis—and the ancient church has something to say about it.

Pastoring in a Pagan World: Ancient Wisdom for Modern Ministry by Leland Brown and Stephen O. Presley draws on the wisdom of early Christian pastors to equip today's church leaders, ministry students, and laypeople for faithful ministry in a decreasingly Christian culture.

As paganism rises and trust in pastoral leadership erodes, the church's most important resource may be its own past. Drawing on Scripture and careful historical research, Brown and Presley identify five convictions at the heart of effective ancient pastoral leadership: virtue, authority, work, suffering, and cultural engagement. Each conviction is grounded in the witness of ancient pastors who faced hostility, maintained authority, and kept their communities faithful. These convictions shaped faithful ministry then—and this book reveals how they can shape it now.

audience

- Pastors and church leaders seeking a biblically and historically faithful model of ministry in this post-Christian culture
- Seminary historical theology and patristic courses

marketing highlights

- Bridges church history with practical ministry through five convictions for faithful leadership.
- Stephen Presley is quickly becoming a premier historian and theologian and is now in a veteran stage in his career.
- This book has strong potential in the trade space among church leadership and curious lay leaders.

Leading Institutions with Vision and Resolve

BY RONALD L. ELLIS & NATHAN D. IVERSON

Prepared for This: Leading Institutions with Vision and Resolve by Ronald L. Ellis and Nathan D. Iverson reveals how enduring leaders are formed for the long haul through signature experiences, disciplined preparation, and mission-centered decision-making.

Told through the inside story of a university president who helped transform a struggling college into a flourishing institution, the book traces how pivotal life experiences, intentional preparation, and mission-driven choices cultivate resilience and vision over decades. Organized in three movements—formation and vision, leading through action, and legacy and continuity—it blends compelling narrative with practical wisdom, challenging leaders to think beyond immediate results and embrace the formation processes that enable faithful, strategic impact across a lifetime of service.

Anchored in a credible, measurable transformation, Prepared for This offers a timely correction to short-term leadership culture and a case-study-driven framework for sustainable stewardship.

Reframing Singleness

A Positive Vision for the Unmarried Life

BY CHRIS H. SMITH, JR.

The number of unmarried adults in the United States is rising—yet many Protestant churches remain under-equipped to minister to them well.

In Reframing Singleness: A Positive Vision for the Unmarried Life, Chris H. Smith Jr. reclaims a biblical-theological vision for singles in the church that celebrates the unmarried state as a faithful mode of Christian living.

Smith traces how the Christian understanding of celibacy shifted from an honored vocation toward an overlooked calling, particularly after the Protestant Reformation. Drawing together Scripture, church history, and the biblical story arc of creation and covenant, he constructs a theology of singleness grounded in the church's identity as the family of God. This framing honors marriage as a creational good while emphasizing the in-breaking of God's new creation—one in which the believer's ultimate home is found not in a biological family on earth but in the family of God.

audience

- Thoughtful evangelical readers, particularly single Christians, who are seeking a biblical, positive vision of the unmarried life
- Ministry leaders and seminary students who are looking to understand singleness and integrate unmarried believers into the life of the church

marketing highlights

- Rather than simply practical advice, this book offers a full biblical-theological framework.
- The book traces how celibacy and singleness shifted from an honored vocation to an overlooked calling after the Protestant Reformation, providing historical depth rarely found in contemporary evangelical treatments.

The Cartography of Culture

Heart Worldviews and Cross-Cultural Analysis

BY DAVID PARKS

The most important map for cross-cultural ministry isn't geographic—it's the terrain of the human heart.

In The Cartography of Culture: Heart Worldviews and Cross-Cultural Analysis, David Parks presents a systematic model for analyzing the layered, often conflicting beliefs that influence individuals and people groups in cross-cultural contexts. Parks contends that modern and postmodern worldviews are no longer simply Western phenomena but are globally entrenched, and that faithful cross-cultural ministry requires moving beyond religious stereotypes to engage a person's actual heart commitments.

The book introduces the concept of "heart worldviews" and teaches a repeatable worldview mapping process. Chapters survey six major worldviews in structured format—covering basics, associated religions, similar worldviews, biblical responses, and suggested resources:

- Monotheism
- Pantheism
- Polytheism
- Animism
- Modernism
- Postmodernism

A final chapter applies the framework through case studies drawn from diverse global contexts, offering students hands-on practice with the mapping model.

Suitable for undergraduate and graduate courses in missiology and evangelism, The Cartography of Culture provides both the theoretical grounding and practical tools students need for authentic and effective cross-cultural ministry.

The English General Baptists of the Seventeenth Century

A Historical and Theological Study

BY J. MATTHEW PINSON AND JESSE F. OWENS

In The English General Baptists of the Seventeenth Century: A Historical and Theological Study, J. Matthew Pinson and Jesse F. Owens offer a dedicated scholarly survey of this understudied, non-Calvinist Baptist movement, tracing its development and thought from 1608 to 1704.

Part One narrates the movement's history—from Thomas Helwys and John Smyth in the radical Puritan milieu of the early 1600s, through growth during the English Civil War, persecution under the restored monarchy, and the theological controversies of the closing decades of the century. Part Two turns to theology, examining the work of the movement's leading preacher-theologians, including Thomas Grantham, whose Christianismus Primitivus (1678) is regarded as the first Baptist systematic theology. Topics include confessional orthodoxy, sola scriptura, sin and salvation, and the gathered church of baptized believers.

Grounded in primary sources and a synthesis of modern scholarship, The English General Baptists of the Seventeenth Century fills a notable gap in Baptist studies and will serve students, professors, pastors, and general readers alike.

audience

- Undergraduate and graduate-level seminary courses, particularly those in the Free Will Baptist tradition
- Baptist pastors and interested lay readers looking to engage with historical analysis of General Baptist origins and theology

The Love of Wisdom, 2nd Edition

A Christian Introduction to Philosophy

BY STEVEN B. COWAN AND JAMES S. SPIEGEL

The ancient Greeks defined philosophy as "the love of wisdom." For Christians, that love finds its truest home in the God who is wisdom itself.

The Love of Wisdom, 2nd Edition: A Christian Introduction to Philosophy by Steven B. Cowan and James S. Spiegel guides readers through the major issues and problems of philosophy from a distinctly Christian perspective, equipping them to think more critically and live more wisely.

Organized into three parts—the study of knowledge, the study of being, and the study of value—the book offers a comprehensive survey of Western thought while sharpening readers' reasoning skills along the way. Throughout, the readers gain significant insights about the nature of God, knowledge, human nature, politics, ethics, and art, consistently connecting philosophical ideas to theological convictions, contemporary culture, and the choices of everyday life.

This second edition features updated references and examples that bring its discussions into the present moment. More than an introduction to philosophy, The Love of Wisdom reveals that to love wisdom rightly is to draw nearer to the God who is its source.

Thinking with Scripture

How the Bible Forms Reason and Discernment
BY ANDREW JENNINGS

Christians are called to love God with heart, soul, strength, and mind—yet few resources show us how Scripture itself equips us to do exactly that.

Thinking with Scripture: How the Bible Forms Reason and Discernment by Andrew Jennings is a spiritually formative guide to developing a mind shaped by God's Word. Jennings argues that the biblical authors were not merely conveying information—they were modeling how to reason, persuade, and discern, employing deductive and inductive argumentation, principles of logic, philosophical modeling, and rhetorical craft to communicate God's revealed truth.

Drawing every example and exercise directly from Scripture, this text walks readers through three movements: the nature of truth, rhetoric, and persuasion; practical tools for discernment; and a synthesis of the big picture those tools reveal. The result is a resource that equips readers to distinguish truth from falsehood, render sound moral judgments, and recognize genuine beauty over mere imitation. Thinking with Scripture is an invitation to be formed, from the inside out, by the mind of God.

audience

- Christians who desire to grow in biblical discernment and develop habits of thinking shaped by Scripture rather than culture
- Students, pastors, and ministry leaders looking for a biblically grounded introduction to reasoning, rhetoric, worldview formation, and critical thinking

marketing highlights

- While most formation books go the way of discipleship or reasoning, this book blends spiritual and intellectual formation.
- Uses the Bible itself as the textbook for developing discernment, reasoning, and wise judgment.

True God from True God

A Baptist Celebration of the Nicene Creed

BY RYAN L. RIPPEE AND CAMERON SCHWEITZER

The Christian faith has been shaped for seventeen centuries by the words of the Nicene Creed. But what does this ancient confession have to say to Southern Baptists and evangelicals today—in their doctrine, their churches, and their ministry?

In True God from True God: A Baptist Celebration of the Nicene Creed, editors Cameron Schweitzer and Ryan Rippee gather a diverse group of scholars to demonstrate the enduring relevance of Nicene thought for Baptist faith and practice. In an introductory movement, contributors ground the Creed in biblical and historical foundations. Subsequent movements of the book unfold the Creed's relevance to key doctrines and practices such as:

- Paterology and Christology
- Baptism and prayer
- Apologetics
- Missions and church planting
- Preaching and pastoral ministry
- Youth ministry and worship

Readers of True God from True God will benefit from this rigorous, historically grounded, and practically oriented assessment of the enduring value of the Nicene Creed for evangelical Baptists in the 21st century.

audience

- Pastors and ministry leaders, especially outside of the Bible Belt, seeking a deeper understanding of Nicene doctrine
- Supplementary text for seminary courses on early church history or courses focusing on creeds

marketing highlights

- This book shows that Baptists have historically been about retrieval and don't have to look elsewhere to find orthodoxy.

Your Finest Hour

Faithful Ministry in Discouraging Times

BY MARK BRADLEY, PAUL KELLY, ALEXANDER STEWART, JIM L. WILSON

The sources are many—unrealized dreams, relentless criticism, exhaustion that doesn't lift, the loneliness of leadership, and the creeping sense that the ministry you were called to is not the ministry you have. When several of these converge, even the most committed leader can begin to wonder whether they have anything left to give.

Your Finest Hour: Faithful Ministry in Discouraging Times was written for that moment. Adam Groza, President of Gateway Seminary, and his faculty colleagues bring their own stories alongside biblical and historical wisdom to minister directly to discouraged leaders. Each chapter addresses a distinct source of discouragement—being attacked, misunderstood, criticized, frustrated, exhausted, or isolated—and points toward a path of faithful endurance.

The collective voice of the Gateway Seminary faculty gives Your Finest Hour a rare quality: the breadth of perspective that only a community of experienced scholars and practitioners can offer. For pastors and seminarians, this book offers a timely reminder that the most difficult seasons of ministry can also prove to be the finest.

audience

- Pastors and ministry leaders in need of encouragement and endurance.
- Seminary students who need realistic expectations about ministry experiences and encouragement before discouragement seeps in

El gran final

Una perspectiva bíblica sobre los últimos día

THE GREAT ENDING

MIGUEL NÚÑEZ

El gran final (The Great Ending) is a book that delves into the intricate world of biblical prophecy and offers a practical understanding of future events for a church that awaits Christ. Rather than presenting a rigid timetable of future events, the focus is on unveiling God's plans, specifically designed for His children. As it ventures into the mysterious realm of prophecy, the text recognizes that some matters lie beyond human scrutiny or speculation, echoing the wisdom of Deuteronomy 29:29. Furthermore, the narrative advocates for the maturity of the church in handling theological differences without causing division within the body of Christ.
Núñez sheds light on the various perspectives surrounding anticipated key events through insightful analysis and interpretation of prophetic passages. Prepare to embark on a journey of discovery and understanding as you explore the mysteries of biblical prophecy in these pages.

El gran final es un libro que se sumerge en el intrincado mundo de la profecía bíblica y ofrece una comprensión práctica de los acontecimientos futuros para la iglesia que espera a Cristo. En lugar de presentar un cronograma rígido de acontecimientos futuros, el enfoque está en revelar los planes de Dios, diseñados específicamente para Sus hijos. Al adentrarse en el misterioso reino de la profecía, el texto reconoce que algunos asuntos están más allá del escrutinio o la especulación humana, haciendo eco de la sabiduría de Deuteronomio 29:29. Además, la narrativa aboga por la madurez de la iglesia en el manejo de las diferencias teológicas sin causar división dentro del cuerpo de Cristo.
Núñez arroja luz sobre las diversas perspectivas en torno a los eventos clave anticipados a través de un análisis e interpretación perspicaces de pasajes proféticos. Prepárate para embarcarte en un viaje de descubrimiento y comprensión a medida que exploras los misterios de la profecía bíblica en estas páginas.

Esperanza frente al temor

HOPE IN THE FACE OF FEAR
WENDY BELLO

Fear can become an emotion that enslaves. Even after coming to faith in Christ, believers often struggle with fear of the future, abandonment, rejection, or growing old, among others. What can we do? We need to know and hold fast to the truths of God's Word that set us free.

In this book, Wendy Bello guides us through the Scriptures so that, instead of surrendering to fear, we learn to anchor our minds and hearts in the promises of God. Because true freedom is not found by ignoring our fears, but by facing them in the light of His Word.

El temor puede convertirse en una emoción que esclaviza. Incluso después de estar en Cristo, los creyentes a menudo lidiamos con el temor al futuro, al abandono, al rechazo o a envejecer, entre otros. ¿Qué podemos hacer? Necesitamos conocer y aferrarnos a las verdades de la Palabra de Dios que nos hacen libres.

En este libro, Wendy Bello nos guía a través de las Escrituras para que, en lugar de rendirnos ante el miedo, aprendamos a anclar nuestra mente y nuestro corazón en las promesas de Dios. Porque la libertad verdadera no se encuentra ignorando nuestros temores, sino enfrentándolos a la luz de Su Palabra.

Proyecto Identidad Estudio bíblico

Guía bíblica para padres que crían hijos en la era digital
IDENTITY PROJECT
AXIS.ORG

Do you ever feel like you and your teenager are speaking completely different languages? Identity Project is the resource you've been waiting for.

Across 16 sessions in four modules — Identity, Culture, Technology, and Faith — this Bible study equips parents to walk alongside their teens through the most urgent questions of adolescence: Who am I? Where do I belong? What do I believe? Each session pairs the timeless foundation of Scripture with the most current cultural research from Axis.org, the leading organization in understanding Generation Z.

Fuimos creados para vivir en comunidad y en relación, pero los padres de hoy enfrentan una brecha generacional sin precedentes: sus hijos adolescentes habitan un mundo digital que muchos padres no comprenden del todo. Proyecto Identidad cierra esa brecha.

A lo largo de 16 sesiones, este estudio bíblico equipa a los padres para atravesar junto a sus hijos las preguntas más urgentes de la adolescencia: ¿Quién soy? ¿Dónde encajo? ¿En qué creo? Cada sesión combina el fundamento eterno de las Escrituras con la investigación cultural más actual de Axis.org — la organización de referencia para entender a la Generación Z en el mundo cristiano evangélico.

Guía esencial para grupos pequeños Estudio bíblico

El arte de liderar en comunidad

A SHORT GUIDE TO GROUPS

DR. JARED MUSGROVE AND JUSTIN ELAFROS

We were made for community, yet we live in the loneliest era in modern history. A Short Guide to Groups: The Art of Leading Community offers a refreshing, practitioner-tested approach to building a groups ministry that actually transforms lives.

Drawing on more than four decades of combined experience at two of the most influential churches in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, Dr. Jared Musgrove and Justin Elafros present groups ministry not as a rigid program to replicate, but as an art to be cultivated — walking leaders through intentional community, relational depth, and the conviction that every person in a group is a gift from God to the others.

Fuimos creados para vivir en comunidad, pero habitamos en la época más solitaria de la historia moderna. Guía Esencial para Grupos Pequeños: El Arte de Liderar en Comunidad ofrece un enfoque refrescante y probado para construir un ministerio de grupos que realmente transforma vidas.

Con más de cuatro décadas de experiencia combinada en dos de las iglesias más influyentes del área de Dallas-Fort Worth, el Dr. Jared Musgrove y Justin Elafros presentan el ministerio de grupos no como un programa rígido, sino como un arte que se cultiva — guiando a los líderes hacia la comunidad intencional, la profundidad relacional y la convicción de que cada persona en un grupo es un regalo de Dios para los demás.
